COMMISSIONERS WILL PAINT 10 STEEL BRIDGES

Bids will be asked for painting of the ten steel bridges owned by the county, the Adams county commissioners decided Wednesday.

When the spans are painted an aluminum color, all of the county's bridges will be in "good shape," Commissioners' Clerk Clarence C. Smith said today. Workmen are engaged at present in painting the wooden bridges of the county.

The commissioners will open the bids for the painting of the bridges August 6 at 11 a. m. Advertisements asking for the bids will be published in The Gettysburg Times starting Friday.

Longest spans to be painted are the Rothaupt's bridge over Marsh creek in Freedom township and the Roth's Mill bridge over the Coneywago in Butler township. Both of the high tier structures are 112 feet in length, with the Rothaupt's Mill bridge going two inches over that length.

Other Spans

Other bridges to be painted are the Rhoades' Mill bridge over Middle creek in Freedom township. The low tier structure is 83 feet, five inches long; Mehrings, over Willowgully run in Cumberland township, a double steel beam span with each span 25 feet in length; Lott's over Rock creek between Cumberland and Mt. Joy townships, a high tier structure 102 feet one and one-half inch long; Gilllands' over Rock creek between Cumberland and Straban townships, a low steel tier span 43 feet, four inches long; Union township bridge over the South branch of the Coneywago creek in Union township, a 72 foot long low tier structure; Zepp's over Beaver run in Straban township, a 52 feet, one inch long low steel tier span; Phil Weaver bridge over Beaver run in Straban, a low steel tier, 48 feet long structure, and Baugher's, over Opposum creek in Menallen township, a 58 feet, two inches long low steel tier span.

MRS. G. TRIMMER DIES WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Lizzie Trimmer, 67, wife of George W. Trimmer, Mummasburg, died at her home Wednesday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock from a complication of diseases.

She was a daughter of the late Benjamin and Mary (Russell) Wisler.

Surviving are her husband; two brothers, Frank W. Wisler, Gettysburg R. 3, and Robert Wisler, Gettysburg; two sisters, Mrs. James Wisler, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Fannie Mellon, Philadelphia. A number of nephews and nieces also survive.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Mummasburg Mennonite church conducted by the Rev. Amos W. Myer. Interment in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the Allison funeral home, Fairfield, Friday evening after 7 o'clock. The body will lie in state at the church from 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon until the time of the services.

LEGION FETE IN LITTLESTOWN

The annual American Legion carnival got underway Wednesday evening with a large crowd in attendance. A ferris wheel and several kiddie rides have been added this year. The affair will continue this evening, with music by the Littlestown high school band and American Legion band. On Friday evening musical entertainment will be provided by the Log Cabin Boys; and on Saturday evening the 101 Ranch Boys will be the attraction. There will be a big party each evening; high striker; and photograph studio. There will be a variety of refreshments and entertainment. A drawing will be held Saturday at 11 p.m.

Grace Lutheran Sunday School will hold its annual picnic and supper on August 7. The supper will be served in the parish hall and the picnic will be held on the grounds at the church. The Littlestown High School band will furnish music.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bloom and their guest, Miss Ellen Currans, Baltimore, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bloom, Taneytown.

Miss M. S. Claire, Washington, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Staveland.

Seek Funds For New Oxford Engine House

Money raised by the festival to be held by the New Oxford fire company today, Friday and Saturday will in part go toward a fund for building a new fire house, officials of the company announced today.

To be held on the Sons of Veterans armory grounds, the carnival will feature musical entertainment each evening. This evening Tee Bone and His Log Cabin boys will play; Friday evening the Brodbeck's band will play and Saturday evening the New Oxford high school band will be the attraction.

Cakes, pies and candies will be among the things for sale, members of the Ladies Auxiliary, which is aiding the firemen in the carnival, said today. Among the chairmen are: Mrs. Clair Lookenbill, Mrs. James Small, Mrs. Rowland Hoffman and Mrs. Rudolph Crouse.

FOUR INJURED IN COLLISION ON WEDNESDAY

Four persons were injured Wednesday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock when two cars collided on legislative routes near Gardners.

Mrs. Alda Miller, 49, Harrisburg, driver of one of the cars, suffered a fracture of both bones of the right forearm and bruises of the leg. A passenger in her car, Alma LaBarge, 21, Harrisburg, suffered a deep laceration of the left knee, shock and a laceration of the neck from which part of the lens of her glasses was removed. The eyeglasses were pulverized by the shock of the crash. A nine-year-old youngster with the two women was unhurt.

Cuts And Bruises

Leroy R. Burkett, 25, Newville, driver of the other car, suffered from cuts about the head and John Beaton, 27, Newville R. 3, suffered from bruises about the head and nose. Dr. B. C. Jones, Bendersville, treated all but Burkett.

Damage to the Miller car, which was owned by Elmer Miller, Harrisburg, was estimated at $500 by state police. Damage to the Burkett vehicle was set at $350.

State police said that Burkett was driving north on one road and that Mrs. Miller was traveling west on another. Mrs. Miller, according to police, stopped at a stop sign and then pulled out into the intersection, striking the side of the Burkett car.

Police will bring a charge of failing to yield the right of way against Mrs. Miller before a county justice of the peace.

JOHN WILLIAMS EXPIRES TODAY

John H. Williams, 72, of 243 Baltimore street, died at the Warner hospital this morning at 4:04 o'clock from the effects of a stroke on June 23. He was admitted to the hospital six days ago.

Mr. Williams was a native of Adams county. He lived in Gettysburg since last January and prior to that resided in Buchanan Valley for a year. The deceased was employed for 45 years in the Braddock Rolling mill, Braddock, Pa.

Surviving are his widow, the former Lena R. Shultz; three children, James B., Tucson, Ariz.; Charles C., Pittsburgh; and Mrs. Pearl Murray, New York city; six grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Bowman, Gettysburg.

Funeral services at the McKinley-Heinrich funeral home, Swissvale, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Swissvale.

Over - Fatigue Invites Polio In Summer Months

Strenuous exercise or games causing extreme fatigue should be avoided during the hot summer months as another precaution against polio, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, through its local chapter, stresses among six simple health rules that should be observed in combating the disease.

Tests on laboratory animals carried out in experiments financed by March of Dimes funds, showed that where animals were strenuously exercised, twice as many of them exposed to the virus developed more severe forms of infantile paralysis than did those which had rested quietly in their cages.

The studies indicate, the National Foundation points out, the wisdom of avoiding extreme fatigue is a worthwhile precaution in the polio danger months—June through September.

GI INSURANCE Former Countian Leaves REINSTATED BY Estate Of $119,988.60 16 COUNTY VETS

The Veterans Administration pointed out today that 16 Adams county veterans reinstated $81,090 of GI insurance during May. August 1 is the deadline for reinstatement of government insurance without a physical examination.

All veterans who have not reinstated their insurance, if it has lapsed since they left service, should get in touch with VA officials at the Pennsylvania State Employment Service office, 20 Baltimore street, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., the Red Cross, Veterans affairs officer or similar persons capable of aiding them in filling out the forms necessary for reinstatement.

Waiver Clause

Included in every policy is a waiver of premium clause which provides that in the event of a total disability lasting six months or more, the premium is paid so long as the disability lasts. Veterans who were hospitalized for six months or more at any time during their service are urged by the VA to apply immediately for the waiver of premium because after August 1, no claim will be allowed over a prior period of one year.

Veterans who fail to reinstate their insurance prior to the August 1 deadline will have to undergo a full medical examination in order to effect reinstatement, the VA warns. At present a veteran can reinstate his insurance by simply paying two premiums and filling out a comparative health statement in which he states that his health is the same as it was at the time of his discharge.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Daughters were born at the Warner hospital Wednesday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thomas, Littlestown R. 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shorb, Emmitsburg.

News Collected At Random

Under the heading "A Kinder View Of Thaddeus Stevens" a book reviewer for The Christian Science Monitor who signs his column "W. K. R." compliments Elsie Singmaster Lewars upon her latest book, "I Speak For Thaddeus Stevens." His review follows:

"It is evident from the title of Elsie Singmaster's 'I Speak For Thaddeus Stevens' that she has written in a tone of sympathy and vindication. In this respect, her biography does not wholly coincide with the reputation that has followed Stevens from the acrimonious years when slavery was an issue, present or past, and it is doubtless time to have his side presented. Miss Singmaster has taken great pains in collecting her material, besides having the advantage of living in Gettysburg, which was Stevens's home for 26 years. With a practiced hand at creating background and a novelist's ability to realize character, she has made Stevens and his political contemporaries real men rather than names in history.

"The special quality of this book lies in its air of being told from the inside, especially of being spun from Stevens's own mental processes. There is the humble home in Danville Center, Vermont, where Thaddeus was born, the second child of a brave little mother and her unworthy husband. There is the fierce ambition of a boy, born with one leg and foot smaller than the other, and in intellect keener than most. His admiration for his mother, his determination to be a lawyer, his study at Dartmouth and in Pennsylvania, his wait for clients in his tiny Gettysburg office, his sudden and consistent success, his generosity to his mother and brothers, his sympathy for enslaved Negroes, his entry into the iron business are described as he felt and lived through them.

"Then came politics, in town, (Please turn to Page 2)

VACATIONS FOR 12 YOUNGSTERS ARE UNDER WAY

Twelve children, whose playspots have been "The Sidewalks of New York," arrived in Gettysburg at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to spend their next two weeks "down on the farm" as the guests of eight Adams county families. Arrangements for their vacations here were made by the local Fresh Air Fund committee in cooperation with the New York Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund.

Mrs. J. Walter Coleman, local chairman, and the "mothers" who will entertain the small guests for the next two weeks, were on hand at the Hotel Gettysburg as three automobiles, which had met the New York train in Harrisburg, arrived with their youthful passengers. A state police car, with Pvt. David K. James of the Gettysburg sub-station at the wheel provided an escort from Harrisburg.

Tired and a bit travel-worn from their long train ride, the children alighted from the cars in front of the hotel and with shy smiles, greeted their new "mothers." The oldest was 13, and the youngest, 5. To each one's coat or dress was affixed a tag, bearing his name and address, and the name of the Adams county home to which he or she going.

"Mothers" Happy Too

Their new mothers, as they stepped forward to greet their charges, seemed as happy as the children. As their small pieces of baggage were sorted out and "families" arranged, pictures were taken by The Gettysburg Times staff photographer, Walter Lane, and then the group broke up to go to their vacation homes.

The group arriving Wednesday afternoon was originally to have numbered 15 children. Three of them were unable to come, but will arrive next Tuesday.

Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, Mrs. Philip Jones and Mrs. C. H. Johnson drove the automobiles which met the train in Harrisburg and brought the children here. They were delayed a half hour in reaching here because the train was late and because they stopped in Harrisburg to provide soft drinks for their tired and thirsty proteges.

Thirteen-year-old Rose Stites, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stites, live at 214 West 69th street in New York city, will spend her vacation with Mrs. L. P. Kooker, Gettysburg R. 2.

MISS RIDINGER RECENT BRIDE

Miss Margaret Ann Ridinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Ridinger, 28 Fourth street, and Robert Walker Paris, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paris, Gettysburg R. 5, were united in marriage in the Grace Lutheran church, Westminster, by the Rev. Elwood S. Falkenstein on Wednesday, July 2, at 2:30 p. m. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the families and a few friends of the couple.

Mrs. Willard Dover, of Igloo, South Dakota, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and Daniel Lee Paris, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

Both Employed Here

The bride graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1946 and is now employed by the G. C. Murphy company. Mr. Paris graduated from Cradock high school, Portsmouth, Va., and served three years in the army, two years of which were spent overseas. He is now employed at the Simpson Machine shop here.

The couple is now residing at the Shetter House, Chambersburg street, following a wedding trip to Portsmouth and Virginia Beach.

Man Reported Lost In Cave Is Found In New York City

Nashville, Tenn., July 10 (AP)—State Safety Commissioner Lynn Bomar announced today John T. (Tuck) Hurn, for whom a week's search had been made in Nickajack cave at Shellmouth, Tenn., had been located in New York city and that Hurn's reported disappearance in the cavern was "a hoax from beginning to end."

Bomar said John Hurn never had been lost in the gloomy, bat-infested commercial cave which had been searched by the state highway patrol, the Red Cross, National Guard, Boy Scouts and scores of private parties since Hurn's brother reported his disappearance.

Hollis Hurn, who with John is part owner of the cave, still insisted today, however, that he believed John was lost in the cave when he first reported his disappearance last Tuesday.

More Donations To Girl Scouts

Contributions to the Adams county Girl Scout drive total $1,825, it was announced today by Mrs. L. F. Eisenberger, Oak Ridge.

The goal of the drive is $8,450. New contributors include: Mrs. Ruth B. Dallmeyer, New Oxford, $5; Gettysburg chapter of the DAR, $5; Mr. and Mrs. John Luckenbaugh, Arden, $5; Willing Workers' Sunday school class of Bendersville, $5; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Crouse, Gettysburg, $2.

SERGEANT FOX ASSIGNED TO COLLEGE ROTC

Master Sergeant Lloyd R. Fox, Golothwaite, Texas, has been assigned to the Gettysburg College ROTC staff as an infantry instructor in military science and tactics. Col. Alfred E. McKenney, professor of military science and tactics, announced today.

Sergeant Fox served in the army six years and ten months, five years of which were in the infantry. He served first as an enlisted man after two years of ROTC training and then received a commission at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1942 after undergoing Officer Candidate training there. He served in Africa, Sicily and Italy for 17 months, in 1943 and 1944, as a platoon leader and a battalion staff officer with the 3rd Infantry Division, 15th Regiment.

After returning to the U. S. in 1944 he was an instructor at Camp Hood, Tex., and later at Camp Maxey, Tex., where he received a commendation from Maj. Gen. C. M. Landrum.

In March, 1946, he was assigned to (Please turn to Page 7)

LETTER THANKS WOMEN FOR KIT SENT OVERSEAS

Featuring the meeting of the Women's Missionary and Silver Circle societies of St. James Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon was the reading of a letter received by Mrs. R. R. Gresh thanking the Missionary society for a "Kiddie Kit" sent by the organization to Europe last November.

The letter was received from Mrs. G. J. Van Kolmeschate, of Meppel, Holland, and reads as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Ralph Gresh: 'I'll write you this letter to tell you how grateful I am because you sent us those beautiful articles of clothing. Our two eldest children, a boy and a girl, were both born in war time, and the youngest boy immediately after the liberation of our little town. So you will understand how some times it puzzles me to get the children clothed warmly and neatly. All I could miss of my own clothes has been sent for the children and now the same is the case with my husband's. It is wonder that the Women's Missionary society of St. James Lutheran church of Gettysburg has sent all these clothes to our country. I ask you, Mrs. Ralph Gresh, to thank from us all the women who helped in this way.

"I hope to write you again, Yours sincerely,

"Mrs. G. J. Van Kolmeschate." The leader for Wednesday's meeting was Mrs. C. C. Culp. "Faith of Our Fathers Living Still," was the theme for the meeting.

Included on the program were the following brief talks: "Persecution of Christians in Russia," Mrs. A. A. Kelly; "Martyrs of Our Day," Mrs. Earl J. Bowman; tribute to the Lutheran pastors who died as Christian martyrs, by Mrs. Gresh, who read the hymn, "For All the Saints"; "What Happened in Norway," Mrs. Paul Reaver; "Jugoslavia," Mrs. Sarah Benner, and "Japanese Christians Who Stood Firm," Mrs. Gresh.

FIREMEN PLAN TO DEDICATE WAR MEMORIAL

The Gettysburg fire company initiated plans for the dedication of a memorial plaque at the engine house for members who served in World War II, at a meeting held at the Firemen's Retreat in the South Mountains Wednesday night. President James B. Aumen presided. A committee will make arrangements for the dedication.

A report of the bazaar committee showed gross receipts of the bazaar held two evenings at the engine house were $3,733; expenses, $264.34 and net receipts $3,468.61, with some contributions still to be received.

To Revise By-Laws

George March, Richard Eisenhart, James A. Aumen, Edward Culp and Raymond E. Menges were appointed a committee to revise the by-laws.

Bids were opened for furnishing new uniforms for the company, and were referred to the executive committee and uniform committee, to meet with factory representatives of the bidders, and with power to act. Bids were received from Hershey's and Pitzer's tailor shops.

The application of C. Arthur Brame, Jr., for membership in the company, was referred to an investigation committee named by the president, composed of William G. Weaver, William Gilbert and Richard Cole. Three applications were voted on and the applicants accepted: Clifford Harner, William H. Miller and Eugene Miller. With their acceptance, the company's roster is filled, Secretary Menges said. Other applications will remain on the waiting list.

To March Labor Day

Chief James A. Aumen, Secretary Menges, George March and Assistant Chief Donald Jacobs and Donald McSherry were named a committee to arrange for the fire company's participation in the 25th anniversary celebration of the Adams County Firemen's association to be held at Littlestown, on Labor Day. There will be a parade, with local firemen participating.

An invitation to attend a celebration to be held by the Emmitsburg post, V.F.W. August 25 to 30, was tabled. The next meeting of the fire company will be held August 13 in the mountains. Sandwiches and refreshments were served following Wednesday night's meeting.

POST SPONSORS BASEBALL TEAM

The Dorsey-Stanton American Legion post, meeting Wednesday evening, agreed to sponsor an all-color baseball team. The squad will meet its first test Saturday evening about 5 o'clock on the Gettysburg high school grounds in a game with the Junior Police to be played following the regular Adams County league game there.

The Junior police added to their laurels Wednesday evening by defeating the American Legion nine, 10 to 5 and winning, at the same time, a forfeited game from Waynesboro.

Standing of the Junior police teams in the first division were announced today as: Gettysburg and Littlestown, both won four and lost one; Chambersburg, won two and lost three while Waynesboro has lost five games so far.

McConnellsburg, with five wins, is leading the second division of the junior police league.

Littlestown's junior police team lost 8 to 5 Wednesday evening to Arden'sville. Chambersburg, originally scheduled to play Littlestown Wednesday night, forfeited.

Man Injured In Fall On Stairway

Edward Luckenbaugh, 335 South Washington street, janitor at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, was treated at the Warner hospital Wednesday for multiple lacerations around the right eye received when he fell and struck a piano descending a dark stairway in the parochial school building.

Richard Eisenhour, 19, Hummelstown, was treated Wednesday evening for lacerations to his right index finger.

The following submitted to operations this morning for the removal of their tonsils: Barry Trostle, Biglerville R. D.; Franklin Koonitz, Taneytown R. 2; Edna Zimmerman, Emmitsburg; Edwin Striem, New Oxford R. 1; Peggy Jo Barnet, West Broadway; Leon Dillman, 22 York street, and Allen Graybill, Westminster R. 5.

Other admissions include Mrs. Walter Doud, Springs avenue; Gladys Wisler, 219 East Middle street; Mrs. Elmer Thomas, Littlestown R. 2; Mrs. Charles Shorb, Emmitsburg; and Mrs. David J. Brown, Orrtanna R. 2. Those discharged were Margie Trostle, 139 Carlisle street; Walter Crouse, Littlestown; Tarence Group, Gardners R. D.

READERS FIND THINGS OF SOIL ADVANTAGEOUS

Readers of The Gettysburg Times whose interest in one of its feature columns, "Things of the Soil," leads them to write to Dan P. Van Gorder, agriculture editor, Box 1528, Washington, 13, D. C., are continuing to find that seeking advice in problems which confront them pays dividends.

Even persons who contemplate buying farms consult Mr. Van Gorder. From Brooklyn, N. Y., came a letter from a man who said he and his partner were considering the purchase of a farm in the vicinity of Gettysburg for raising poultry. Whether to buy enough acreage to raise all their feed, or just enough to raise chickens and buy the feed, was the problem submitted to Mr. Van Gorder.

How To Save Plants

Mr. Van Gorder promptly submitted her recommendations, and added: "If we can assist you in any way, do not hesitate to write us further. That's our job—to answer questions."

A York Springs resident sent to the "ag" editor samples of delphinium on which the leaves were yellowing and said this blight was affecting all her plants. A page and a half letter recommending proper treatment of the plants and top soil was forthwith dispatched.

From Cashtown came a letter from one who has sought Mr. Van Gorder's assistance on previous occasions. The author of this letter said he had planted outdoor ivy this spring, and wanted to know whether it could be taken indoors this fall, and what house temperature would be recommended.

From a Gettysburg R. 3 woman came this letter: "I would like to know what to do about a plum tree. Last year it had an awful lot of plums on it. They got so big, then they all fell off before they were ripe. Would like to know what to do about it."

Inquiries relative to grape spraying and the proper spray for use against cabbage worms and aphids were also received by Mr. Van Gorder from Adams county residents who read his column in The Gettysburg Times. Like others, they received personal answers to their questions.

General F. L. Parks Tours Battlefield

Maj. Gen. F. L. Parks, who served with General Eisenhower at Camp Colt, located on the battlefield here in 1918, was a visitor to the battlefield and the National Museum Wednesday. He was accompanied by Col. K. L. Fielder and M/Sgt. George S. Lolkow. All three are stationed with the War Department in Washington.

On Sunday India's first ambassador to the United States, who just recently arrived in this country, M. Asaf Ali, visited the battlefield and museum.

Thirty-eight states and four foreign countries were represented by visitors at the museum on a recent Sunday, according to the register. Among them was a member of the Union of South Africa legation in Washington. Other countries were Austria, Italy and China.

Duff Will Attend Governors' Meet

Harrisburg, July 10 (P)—Governor James H. Duff, accompanied by Mrs. Duff, Brig. Gen. Frank A. Weber, and Miss Jean Folsom, Mrs. Duff's niece, leave tonight for a trip to the National Conference of Governors at Salt Lake City.

The Governor, and his party, will travel by train, arriving at the western city Saturday night.

The conference of governors opens on Monday, with Duff on the program for a talk on the effective use of water resources.

Following the conference, which closes on July 16, Duff and his party plan a visit to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river, and a side trip to enable the executive to get in some trout fishing in western mountain streams, before starting for home.

Duff Vetoes More Vacation Periods

Harrisburg, July 10 (P)—A legislative proposal to extend Pennsylvania's vacation and sick-leave policy for state employees was vetoed by Governor James H. Duff with the statement that the present policy is "a liberal one."

The rejected bill would have permitted department heads to make 15-day vacations and 15-day sick leave annually cumulative under certain conditions.

In addition to standing leaves, the governor said state employees now benefit from all legal holidays and when they fall at the end or beginning of a week, the state job holders "enjoy a long week-end."

George W. Shorb

George W. Shorb, 75, a former resident of Frederick county, Md., died at his home in Peely, Pa., Monday night at 8 o'clock.

A son of the late Aaron N. and Mary Mikesell Shorb, he was born at Emmitsburg and resided in Frederick county until 1916 when he moved to Wilkes-Barre. For the past eight years he had resided in Peely. He is survived by the following children: Mildred B. and Paschal A. Shorb, Mrs. Lillie V. Fletcher, George V. Shorb, Mrs. Marie E. Cross, all of Washington, D. C.; a sister, Mrs. Ernest D. Michael of Frederick; four grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services this morning at 10 o'clock in Frederick, interment in Mount Olivet cemetery.

JOBLESS PAY TAX REDUCED

Harrisburg, July 10 (P)—Pennsylvania employers will be saved an estimated $200,000,000 this year in unemployment compensation taxes through a new law reducing rates as much as 50 per cent.

The lower rates, signed into law yesterday by Gov. James H. Duff, come into effect when the amount of money in the unemployment compensation fund equals or is better than 9.1 per cent of the total amount of wages paid in the state in the first 12 of the last 18 months.

They are cut from present range of one to 2.7 per cent to a new one of a half of one per cent to 2.7 per cent, effective immediately, making the savings available to employers providing steady employment during the remainder of 1947.

New Rate Schedule

The new law also establishes a new rate schedule starting in 1948 which continues the half of one per cent for employers with the smallest labor turnover as long as the level of the fund remains at 9.1 per cent or better of total wages.

Should the amount in the fund—it is nearly $600,000,000 at present—drop below 8.3 per cent of the total wages, however, the old rates would be restored.

The state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation estimated savings under the new rates at $27,000,000 to $30,000,000 for a full year.

Lost Girl Found On Boston Common

Boston, July 10 (P)—Thirteen-year-old Nadia Evans, daughter of an internationally known nuclear physicist, found yesterday 100 miles from the scene of her disappearance from a New Hampshire summer camp, was "resting comfortably" today at Massachusetts general hospital.

A family spokesman said the girl was suffering from hunger and fatigue but otherwise was in "good condition" after she had been found on Boston Common by a friend of the Evans.

Her father, Prof. Robley F. Evans of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said a "girlish whim" apparently induced her to leave the Tabor summer camp at Wilmont Center, N. H., Monday night on horseback.

TOMATO BLIGHT WARNING GIVEN

Late blight, which last year cut the county's tomato production to one-quarter of a normal yield, is threatening again this year, County Agent M. T. Hartman announced today.

In a letter to the various tomato growers of the county Hartman warned that the potato late blight was found in potatoes in Cumberland county on July 1 and in tomatoes near Hagerstown on July 2. A few traces were also discovered in Adams county on both tomatoes and potatoes on Tuesday.

Last year the blight, striking on a large scale for one of the first times in the county's history, not only wiped out an expected bumper crop but completely destroyed many acres of tomatoes.

Urges Spraying

County Agent Hartman urged that growers do not delay in spraying or dusting their tomatoes in the effort to beat the blight this season.

He suggested a 7 per cent fixed copper dust or a spray of fixed copper, two pounds actual copper, to 100 gallons of spray or Bordeaux 6-3-100 (six pounds of copper sulfate, and three pounds of fresh hydrated spray lime per 100 gallons of spray). He also warned the growers to thoroughly cover the entire tomato plant with either the spray or dust and warned against attempting to combine spray materials such as Zerlate and copper in the sprays.

He also urged the growers to repeat applications at 10 day intervals during the season.

Here And There News Collected At Random

state, and nation, and Thaddeus Stevens was a name known to all the country and hated by some of it. He was disappointed not to be named for the Cabinet, his far-off dream of the Presidency evaporated; but, as chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House during the Civil War, he wielded great power. For many years, his penetrating wit and command of words, his bitter determination and political acumen dominated the House. He is best known for his support of the Freedman's Bureau Bill, the Civil Rights Bill, the Fourteenth Amendment, and the military reconstruction of the South. He it was, also, who proposed the impeachment of Andrew Johnson.

"Stevens differed with Lincoln, though of the same party, in thinking that wartime powers belonged to Congress rather than to the President; and he lacked patience with Lincoln's slower, less radical course."

"Miss Singmaster's book is an example of expert biographical writing. Her use of a date at the head of each chapter keeps the chronology clear, without any clutter of dates in the narrative. She has defended Stevens, not by argument, but by a reporting of the circumstances that vindicate his conduct. It may seem at times that she wears glasses of one color when she is looking at Stevens and of another when she looks at his famous contemporaries: at Webster and Clay; at Seward, even at Lincoln—though Stevens was not the only friend of the black man to misunderstand Lincoln's plans for reconstruction."

"On the whole, Miss Singmaster makes Stevens's obscurity more comprehensible and reduces the ugly personal gossip about him chiefly to political talk. She does not make of him a statesman, but an adroit, brilliant politician and a militant friend of Negro freedom and of a free education for everybody."

"In the midst of this careful accumulation of data, there is a curious little slip in calling John Wheelock of Dartmouth 'founder and president.' President he was, but the honor of being founder, of course, goes to his father, President Eleazar Wheelock."

COUNTY PLANT IS FEATURED

The National Fruit Product company plant at Peach Glen and M. E. Knouse, general manager of the northern division of the company, are featured in a story entitled "Like Mother Used to Make" in the current issue of the Reading railroad magazine.

The story details how the company grew from a cooperative farmers organization in 1917 to its present position in the fruit processing industry.

Pictures are shown of Mr. Knouse, the Peach Glen plant in 1925 and the plant today. Other pictures show the interior of the present plant during current operations.

Comparative figures on production, given in the article, show that the plant had an initial production of approximately 20,000 cases, and now is capable of producing 2,000,000 cases of processed products per year. "Where a mere 30 bushels of apples were utilized in the beginning, the plant now processes 12,000 bushels of apples per day to produce daily 33,000 No. 10 cans of canned apples, or 5,500 cases, and 50,000 quart jars of apple butter," the article states.

Members of the Gettysburg Junior Police club, who entertained the Reading Junior Police baseball team here June 19, were guests of the Reading club Tuesday, when the local team went there to play a return ball game. They lost the ball game, 14 to 4, but were royally entertained, according to Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster and Patrolman Albert L. Wolford. The latter is adviser to the junior club here.

Twenty-one boys and five Gettysburg girls who are members of the local club left here at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday by bus for Reading. Upon arrival, they were met by a police escort and taken to the city hall. Then, with two police guides and a motorcycle escort, they toured the city and were taken over the skyline drive, stopping at the lookout tower.

The boys and their guides, with Chief Harpster and Patrolman Wolford, had dinner at the Skyline drive restaurant, and after the ball game in the afternoon were taken to the country club of Lodge No. 1, F.O.P., where they had sandwiches and soft drinks. In the evening they were guests of the Reading club at Carsonia amusement park, and returned to the clubhouse for more "eats" and "pop" before starting the return trip to Gettysburg.

3 Hotel Robbers Traced And Caught

Pittsburgh, July 10 (P)—Three men were taken into custody today in connection with the robbery of three downtown hotels and two offices.

Police said they traced the men through a tip from a girl victim, who saw one of the men getting into a cab downtown. The cab was traced to a hotel and two of the men were found there.

Lieut. William Sullivan said the men were Ronald Tucker, alias Alfred Pittman, 23, of Brooklyn, W. Va., Lee Ramsey, 20, of Jefferson City, Tenn., and Alexander Savage, 30, of Pittsburgh.

The offices robbed were those of Western Union and Western United.

Loot in the hotel holdups was $500 from the Edison, $440 from the Keystone and $300 from the Mayfair.

Scientist Declares A-Bomb Size Limited

Washington, July 10 (P)—A War Department scientist said today it may be possible to make atom bombs more than twice as powerful as the one which burst over Nagasaki—but that there are practical reasons why the size cannot be increased indefinitely.

Even if the "technical difficulties" are overcome, he added, bigger bombs might prove unprofitable from the standpoint of damage inflicted for the increased amount of scarce and costly plutonium involved.

Dr. R. E. Lapp, physicist of the department's research and development division, said the result may be an "ultimate feasible size" beyond which the bombs "may not be progressively increased in destructive power."

"STOP YANKEES" IS BATTLE CRY IN JUNIOR LOOP

By MURRAY ROSE
(AP Sports Writer)

The old, familiar cry of "stop the Yankees" rang through the American league again today.

It's been four years since the alarm signals have been sounded in the junior circuit over an oncoming Yankee menace although it's a different sort of a crew that Bucky Harris brought into St. Louis for the opening of the New Yorkers' third invasion of the west this year.

Miller Huggins and Joe McCarthy's outfits were the long hitting, big inning type, while Harris, in his first year at the helm of the Bronx Bombers, has had to play pretty close to the vest.

Up To Tigers, Boston

If the Yanks are going to be stopped this year, the western clubs, in particular Detroit, will have to unload both barrels now. Joe Cronin, whose Boston Red Sox spread-eagled the field last year, admitted as much at the All-Star game in Chicago.

The Yanks are eight games in front of both Detroit and the Red Sox and those two are the only two clubs that are conceded much of a chance to derail the Bronx Express. Connie Mack's amazing A's are 10½ games astern with Cleveland another half back but neither figures to bother the Yankees.

So far this year the Bombers have compiled a terrific 28-9 record at the Yankee Stadium and a 19-17 road mark. It's this comparative weakness away from home that has built up thin hopes in the breasts of the Tigers and Red Sox although not many other clubs can boast better road records.

The advantage lies all with the Yanks since they will be at home for the last few weeks of the season and even the barest kind of a lead might be enough to carry them in.

In Senior Loop

While the Yanks will take on the Browns in an archrival tonight the Red Sox and Tigers will fight it out in a twilight tilt at Detroit. Connie Mack's A's face the Indians at Cleveland in a two-night double-header in which Bobby Feller will test out his ailing knee and back. The American league program is rounded out by a Washington at Chicago twin bill.

The sizzling National league race picks up in the east with the aroused St. Louis Cardinals, now in fourth place, challenging the third-place New York Giants in a night affair which opens a five-games-in-three-days series; the fifth-place Cubs tackle the pace-setting Dodgers in a doubleheader at Brooklyn and the sixth-place Reds, only six games off the pace, tangle with the runner-up Braves in double-pay, day and night contests at Boston. Pittsburgh's hapless Pirates and the fading Philadelphia Phils continue the battle of the cellar in a bargain bill at Quakertown.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 10 (AP)—The sport of baseball lost one of its greatest friends when Judge W. G. Bramham died Tuesday, and so did a lot of people who write about the game... it wasn't easy to get close to the stern jurist who ruled the minor leagues for many years, but once he granted you his confidence, he gave it in full... the judge could and would tell you the "inside" of many of baseball's odder doings, point out where criticism or praise were called for and forecast happenings that sometimes were years away... he did it, not as a favor, but because he believed it helped the game to help a writer to a clear understanding of the inner workings of the baseball business... still buried in our files, for instance, are some of the judge's letters of the 1944 forecasting such things as last year's player's guild fiasco and the development of player representation in baseball councils.

SPEECH, SPEECH

Bramham probably will be remembered the longest for the famous "battle of the proxies" in 1943, when baseball's chain operators tried to unseat him... no one who was there ever will forget the closing speech... the judge, an old, tired man who led an uncompromising struggle for what he thought was right, stood up before his opponents, his eyes flashing and his words crackling like whiplashes as he told them: "Instead of going around and trying to create discord, instead of trying to undermine men who are trying to deal with those things that are essential to the protection of this game and to maintain the respect and confidence of the American people, you better get out of your huddles in blind alleys and dark rooms and stop trying to do those things that are a reflection upon you personally and upon the game..." Those words should be posted in every baseball office as a reminder.

TOLEDO MATCH OPENS TODAY

Toledo, O., July 10 (AP)—The Toledo Inverness "you have to shoot a bird-in-to win" tournament gets under way today, with a $3,000 first prize hanging on the four-day best-ball classic featuring 16 of the nation's top-flight golfers.

The 16 contestants, picked from the leading performers on the winter circuit, have been paired in two-somes, and each duo will meet each of the others in 18-hole match play, with the $10,000 event winding up Sunday.

Favored to cop the top prize are Ben Hogan, the diminutive long-hitter, and Jimmy Demaret, the laughing boy of the links, who annexed the laurels in 1941 and 1946.

Seven Newcomers

However, with seven newcomers in the "sweet 16" field, the two top flight money winners of the year were not expected to have too easy a time crashing into the first spot. Arrayed against them was plenty of title talent, and from the first time in years the "plus and minus" contest was considered wide open.

The winners get a "plus" of the number of holes they finish "up" on the foe, and the losers get a similar "minus." Scores are carried over from match to match, and at the finish the pair with the greatest plus takes the plum.

Arrayed against the favored Demaret-Hogan combination are Sam Snead and R. Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furgol and George Schoux, Vic Ghezzi and Ed (Porky) Oliver, Lloyd Mangrum and Lawson Little, Herman Kelsner, Ellsworth Vines and Clayton Heafner, and Lew Worsham and John Palmer.

SCOFF PLAN TO PUT TEETH IN U. N. CHARTER

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Senators George (D-Ga.), and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), today branded as premature a proposal by 22 members of Congress that the United States take the lead in trying to put peace enforcement teeth into the United Nations Charter.

George, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, called the suggestion "a bad move at a bad time" and one that might bring dissolution of the U.N. in a critical world period.

Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate-House atomic energy committee and is a member of the foreign relations group, said it would mark the U.N. prematurely with having failed. He added that he wanted to give the international organization more time to see if it can reach agreement on world atomic controls.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.), also a foreign relations member and a close friend of President Truman, said he will support any move to strengthen the U.N.

Many Resolutions

That is the avowed purpose of resolutions offered in different form by 12 senators and 10 House members of both parties. Behind each of these proposals, however, is the obvious belief that if Russia continues to block international agreement on atomic energy and other world problems, the United States must act to align other nations in a new organization.

The ten House members put it this way in a formal statement:

"The sponsors believe that there is no surer way of determining whether the Soviet Union is bent on conquest than by learning whether she would be willing to go along with other nations in creating a United Nations which could guarantee her security."

Their resolution proposed that the U.N. be set up as a world government with legislative, judicial and enforcement branches.

Forbes Sees No Depression Ahead

Washington, July 10 (AP)—B. C. Forbes, publisher of Forbes Business Magazine, said today he sees no sign of an economic recession or a depression.

"If we do draw down upon our heads anything like an acute depression, it will be entirely man-made, inexcusable," Forbes said in a statement prepared for the joint congressional committee on the economic report.

Forbes urged the committee and congress to take all possible steps to encourage saving and investing, which he called "The very lifeblood of an expanding free enterprise economy."

SITDOWN STRIKE

Salt Lake City, July 10 (AP)—Minnie, two year old canary owned by Mrs. Hugh Brown, was a bit disappointed when only one of the five eggs she laid a month ago hatched.

Minnie decided to try again. For 10 days starting June 25 she laid one a day—something of a record for canaries local ornithologists say.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.), also a foreign relations member and a close friend of President Truman, said he will support any move to strengthen the U.N.

Body Of Boy Found In Susquehanna

Columbia, Pa., July 10 (AP)—A four-day search for 29-month-old Howard D. Black, Jr., was ended today when the child's body was recovered from the Susquehanna river 1,000 feet from his home.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Black, apparently crawled from the porch of his home Monday during a heavy rainstorm. He was believed, by his parents, to have been swept into a sewer 700 feet from the Black home.
The body was found near the sewer outlet by William Jelly.

Mary Dick Wins Title of Queen at Homecoming: Mary Dick, of Greenstone, presided as queen of the Homecoming and Firemen's fair parade, held at Fairfield Monday afternoon.

Seated on a throne befitting a queen and surrounded by her maids of honor, Miss Mary Kebl, Miss Catherine Allison and Miss Gladys Walter, all of Fairfield, Miss Dick, crowned Miss Fairfield, occupied the first float in the parade.

The parade was headed by C. E. Baltzley, chief of police. Edwin Zaring was chief marshal and P. C. Musselman, James Landis and Ellis Bream were aides.

Couple Married at Nuptial Mass: Miss Esther Kane, daughter of Andrew Kane, Arendtsville, became the bride of Alton Wierman, also of Arendtsville, at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Ignatius Old Jesuit Mission, Buchanan Valley, by the Rev. W. W. Whalen, Saturday morning, July 2. The witnesses were Michael Whalen and Miss Helen Wentz. They will make their home in Gettysburg.

Henry T. Bream and Miss Louise Dougherty Wed: Henry T. Bream, football coach at Gettysburg college, where he was a three-letter athlete, and Miss Louise C. Dougherty, of Hazleton, were married at Hazleton Wednesday.

Miss Dougherty, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Dougherty, has been teaching in the Hazleton high school.

Mr. Bream is a son of Wilson Bream, formerly of Gettysburg.

Baker to Help Develop Radio: Irvin R. Baker, of near Gettysburg, has accepted a position with the General Electric company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Boyer Goes to Nova Scotia: Miss Mary L. Boyer, Arendtsville, left Friday to visit friends in Nova Scotia.

3 County Boys Picked by State: Three Adams county boys have been chosen to represent Pennsylvania at the annual Maryland College club camp at College Park, Md., according to announcement made by R. E. Underwood, county farm agent.

The boys who have been selected are C. J. Tyson, Jr., Flora Dale, representing the Adams County Vegetable Garden club; John Small, Hanover R. D., beef club, and Floyd Carbaugh, Fairfield, beef club.

Sells Refreshment Stand: Amos Golden has sold his refreshment stand on Keckler's hill, north of town, to Leo C. Riley.

Legion of Honor Is Given Byrd: Paris, July 6 (AP)—Premier Poincare pinned the decoration of the Legion of Honor on the breast of Commander Byrd this morning. The ceremony took place at the Ministry of Finance in the presence of American attaches.

The visit of Commander Byrd and his three flight companions to the premier was a brief one.

The American aviators who flew across the Atlantic ocean in the Columbia and America had another day of receptions.

Fireworks Victims: George Burger, East Middle street, and Joseph Currens, Cashtown, had their left and right eye, respectively, badly burned by the explosion of fire crackers indiscriminately thrown at them by other celebrators.

Arthur E. Hutchison had his face and eye burned by the premature blast of a home-made steel cannon, but a York eye specialist said he hoped to save the sight of Mr. Hutchison's eyes.

Today's Talk

DEPENDABILITY
Are we outliving the ideals and principles that have made this Western world the envy of the rest of the world? Vision and hard work in our earlier days were partners. People looked ahead and planned ahead. Character had a high loan value. Dependability was one of the common assets of the time.

The employer looks to those whom he employs and hopes that they may be dependable. He knows that if they are they have far to go. Such people always rise. And that same quality is what we look for in a friend. We want to be sure we can depend upon him and that he will go the route with us.

Today, however, and sad to relate, this old-fashioned idea of dependability is given minor rating. Long ago it was: "How much can I give?" Today it is: "How much do I get?" There is little meeting on common ground. Why can't the 50-50 plan work out as a universal law—and each of us always be glad to give as much as we take?

The best security in this world should be a man's character—his own word. No higher compliment can be paid to one other than he is wholly dependable.

When you put a man on his honor, he takes pride in showing that he has it! Putting it another way—the easiest way to gain the trust of another is to give him your trust. We will never all think the same. We will always want to think things out for ourselves, and accord the same privileges to others, for that will establish us as a dependable citizen in our own right.

What a cloud of worries the dependable person removes! Once he gives you his word, you can bank on it. It's this quality that makes life-long pals, happy marriages, successful business connections, and friends "without capitulation."

We like to trade in stores noted for their integrity and dependability. Such stores boast of their long existence, and justly so. When we see the word "Sterling" upon a piece of silver, we know that is the mark of genuineness and character. Invisibly that word is stamped upon the character of every dependable human being!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Magic of Words"

GOVERNOR CUTS STATE COLLEGE APPROPRIATION

Harrisburg, July 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania State college will get only $750,000 from the commonwealth for construction of temporary housing for veterans and continuance of its long-range program for new classrooms and dormitories.

The state assembly approved $6,000,000 for that purpose but Gov. James H. Duff yesterday cut the appropriation to the $750,000 figure.

Duff said appropriations made by the legislature exceeded budget estimates to such an extent that "I had to cut them to bring them within the budget."

Still awaiting the Executive's action is an appropriation of $9,152,000 for the college's normal operations in the next two years. The Governor recommended $8,500,000 in his budget to the college but the legislature increased it to the larger amount.

Duff also approved the general appropriation bill of $383,982,128 after trimming $328,000 from it for various departments and agencies. It is from that appropriation that normal operations of the state government are financed.

Salaries Reduced
Included in the departmental reductions was a cut of $100,000 for salaries and general operations in the auditor general's department; a $45,000 reduction in the Department of Forests and Waters in the allocation for payments to counties in lieu of taxes on state-owned forest lands; a savings of $90,000 in the same department through abolition of the nautical school; and a reduction of $73,000 in the appropriation for vocational education in the Department of Public Instruction.

Duff also reduced the appropriation to the General Assembly's Joint State Government commission from $250,000 to $200,000 and slashed by 50 per cent a proposed $100,000 allotment for a tax study to be made by the commission in cooperation with a special committee headed by Commerce Secretary Orus J. Matthews.

The total budget presented by Duff to the legislature last March called for total expenditures of $857,422,139 during the next two years for all purposes including motor fund allocations for which there are no specific appropriations.

Train Derailer Sent To Prison

Butler, Pa., July 10 (AP)—Paul Vild, 31-year-old fireman of Freeport, Pa., who pleaded "moon madness" when charged with derailing a Pennsylvania railroad freight train near his home, was sentenced to serve two to four years in Western Penitentiary.

Judge William B. Purvis, who pronounced sentence yesterday, said Vild had been examined by a psychiatrist. Details of the report were not disclosed.

Vild was convicted of damaging railroad property. He entered a plea of no defense to another property damage charge and an arson count.

SAUCER FOUND IN FLOWER BED

North Hollywood, Calif., July 10 (AP)—A saucer-shaped mechanical concoction, resembling a chicken brooder top with a few gadgets added, was found in a geranium bed at the home of construction engineer Russell Long last night and the first official reaction was from fire battalion chief Wallace E. Newcombe who looked at it skeptically and said:

"It doesn't look to me like it could fly."

Long called the Van Nuys fire department and excitedly pointed to the metal saucer, 30 inches in diameter, which he said had been belching smoke from two exhaust pipes and emitting a blue-white glare. The office of Richard B. Hood, federal investigation chief here, said an FBI man had taken a look at the device and that it would be turned over to military authorities. The FBI office said Hood had no other comment.

Chief Newcombe exhibited the object. A radio tube on top was set down into the upper half of the saucer which was about five inches thick at the middle and tapered to a thin perimeter. There were wires leading to a plug embedded in the center of the lower half. There was a rudder-type wing on top. Long told reporters that he was awakened by a pop, not as loud as an explosion, and that he rushed outside to find the device. He declared that the object had nudged a few bricks out of the border of his flower bed.

COAL MINING IS SPURTING TOWARD NORMAL

Pittsburgh, July 10 (AP)—The nation's bituminous production spurted toward normal today as "able and willing" AFL-Miners from the North and South dug coal under terms of a new and unprecedented wage agreement.

Southern mine operators—last holdouts to the "take-it-or-leave-it" terms of John L. Lewis—capitulated yesterday. The vast West Virginia and East Kentucky bituminous mine interests signed first, leaving less than 10 percent of the nation's soft coal production unaccounted for.

However, mines in Virginia and Tennessee were described as temporarily withholding signature because they feared collision with state laws regulating the closed shop and dues checkoff.

The only sour note came from Washington where Rep. Fred Hartley (R-NJ) co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law, warned that coal operators risk criminal prosecution for signing the Lewis contract. He claimed it violates the new labor act.

"Willing To Be Wrong"
Laurence J. Tierney Jr., a signer and a spokesman for the Southern Association, summed up the employers' reaction to Hartley's charge: "If we're wrong, we're perfectly willing to be wrong. And we hope Fred Hartley is right. I hope we'll be able to pick comfortable cells. We'll probably have good companionship."

Tuition Rates At Penn Are Increased

Philadelphia, July 10 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania announces that tuition rates for almost all schools and departments will be increased during the 1947-48 year.

The semester tuition for full-time undergraduate students will be increased from $250 to $300 in February, 1948. Graduate students will pay $250 instead of $200 per semester beginning September.

Tuition for medical, dental, veterinary medicine and law students also will be increased. President George William McClelland said the increase was necessary to cover a $2,000,000 hike in university operating costs.

The suction attachment of an electric vacuum cleaner may also be used for cleaning hot air registers.

Many of the South's 100,000 coal diggers also prepared to work today although industry sources did not expect normal operations there until the end of the week.

The miners went back with a 44½ cent hourly increase in pay, hiking the daily rate from $11.85 for a nine-hour day to $13.05 for eight-hours. The contract covers the employment of miners only during the time as "such persons are able and willing to work."

The new contract promises at least a year of peace in the usually turbulent coal fields, scene of four walk-outs in the past eight months. Two of the stoppages were on a national level.

FUTURE QUEEN IS HAPPY OVER HER BETROTHAL

London, July 10 (AP)—A radiant Princess Elizabeth, her eyes sparkling like the three-diamond engagement ring that glistened on her third finger, received best wishes from all parts of the world today on her betrothal to Lt. Philip Mountbatten.

"We are very, very happy," she told a friend as she leaped through pile after pile of congratulatory messages in Buckingham palace, where her handsome blond fiancé also was in residence.

Outside the vast gray palace, whose gloomy exterior gave no evidence of the happiness within, a crowd that swelled to more than 2,000 stood in steady rain for a glimpse of "Princess Lilybet" when she left with her family for a Westminster Abbey ceremony.

Steals Spotlight
Hurrahs and shouts of "good luck" rang out as the royal family left in a limousine for the abbey. The slender, blue-eyed Elizabeth, sitting beside demure Princess Margaret, smiled happily and waved acknowledgment. A faint blush tinged her cheeks.

The announcement of the royal engagement and speculation over plans for the wedding—the date for which is to be set within a few days—temporarily stole the spotlight from international politics and domestic economic problems.

The general belief was that the 21-year-old heiress apparent to the throne would wed her childhood sweetheart this autumn—probably in October—at Westminster Abbey, but in the absence of an official announcement the date still was anyone's guess.

Expect Quiet Wedding
The impression appeared to be growing, however, that the ceremony—in deference to the grave economic ills confronting the nation—would be a comparatively austere affair.

This view was reflected by the London Daily Graphic, which said that "the magnificent traditional pomp and circumstance" surrounding such affairs probably would "give place to plans felt to be more in keeping with the times."

The British press—with the sole exception of the Communist Daily Worker—enthusiastically acclaimed the princess' betrothal to the handsome, blond former prince of Greece who renounced his royal titles last March to become a British citizen.

The Times noted with satisfaction that Mountbatten, a distant cousin of King George VI and a nephew of Lord Mountbatten, viceroy of India, "comes of the male line of one of

Give Permission To Remove Trees

Harrisburg, July 10 (AP)—The Public Utility commission has granted authority to the Pennsylvania Power and Light company to remove trees necessary for the maintenance of a 110,000 volt transmission line to the Bethlehem Steel Company plant in Bethlehem.

The trees are on four tracts of land owned by Andrew Czanek, in Allen township, Northampton county. The Power and Light company asked the commission for the right to remove the trees in order to provide an additional width of 35 feet on each side of an existing 30-foot right of way.

The commission was told that the trees have grown to such height that they constitute a hazard to the operation of the electric line.

Fear Woman Marked For Gangland Death

Beverly Hills, Calif., July 10 (AP)—Fear that Virginia Hill, thrice-wed Alabama girl now in Paris, may be marked for a gangland style death similar to that which snuffed out the life of Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel in her palatial home here June 20 was expressed by Police Chief C. H. Anderson.

He disclosed he had been informed by an "underground source" that a "pair of assassins" are enroute to Paris to "take care" of Miss Hill, who departed for the French capital two weeks before an unidentified assailant fired a fusillade of 30 calibre rifle bullets into the former public enemy. He indicated, however, he was not unduly impressed with the tip.

the oldest dynasties of Europe."

One Sour Note
"The pleasure of the people will be the greater," the Times added, "because it is apparent that there can be no motive but the impulse of their own hearts to bring this young couple together."

Other London papers expressed similar views, but the Daily Worker sounded a sour note by calling Mountbatten a "German princeling"—a reference to the fact that his mother, Princess Alice, was the eldest daughter of Prince Louis of Battenberg, a German who acquired British citizenship in 1868 and was first sea lord at the outbreak of World War I.

"We must express our dismay," said the Worker, "that an individual with his family background has found himself in a position of great authority over the British people."

Seek To Purchase Tin Plate Mill

New Castle, Pa., July 10 (AP)—Five New Castle men have bid an undisclosed sum for the old Shenango Tin Plate mill here, used during the war by the Aluminum Company of America and turned over to the government in 1945.

Bidders are Lawrence county Judge G. Lamoree, New Castle Mayor John F. Haven, Ivor W. Davis, president of the greater New Castle association, Roger W. Roland and Robert W. Cunningham.

They said they hope to sub-divide the plant into units for small business occupation to increase employment here.

To Push Action On Terminal Bonds

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Senator Baldwin (R-Conn.) said today he hopes to bring house-approved legislation to permit cashing of terminal leave bonds before the senate next week.

He said he will ask the full armed services committee to approve the bill at the earliest opportunity, possibly at a meeting scheduled for tonight (6:30 p.m., E.S.T.).

Railroad Embargo Cripples Business

Pittsburgh, July 10 (AP)—Extension of a railroad embargo today further crippled western Pennsylvania business in the 39-day-old strike of AFL truck drivers.

The Pennsylvania Railroad slapped extended restrictions on less-than-carload freight shipments because of jammed conditions in warehouses throughout the area.

The railroad's announcement came as leaders of the AFL-General Teamsters and officials of the Western Pennsylvania Motor Carriers association met behind closed doors with Mayor David L. Lawrence on the five cents an hour gap between the carriers and their employees. The drivers seek 20 cents an hour pay increases.

The new rail embargo extends the restricted area from Pittsburgh proper to the area bounded by Grapeville (near Greensburg), Charleroi, Beaver Falls, Burgettstown and Washington. The ban cuts off earlier relief that firms with private sidings enjoyed.

Only exception under the ban is provided shippers who can load 20,000 pounds of cargoes destined to various points. The entire car must go to points beyond Altoona and Columbus, Ohio.

ATHENS RAIDS ACQUIRE NEW SIGNIFICANCE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The Greek government's announcement of a Communist plot to overthrow the Athens regime acquires special significance from the fact that a few hours earlier Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko had charged before the United Nations Security Council that the situation in Greece was due to Anglo-American interference and had demanded that the U.N. order foreign military personnel (meaning U. S. and British) off Greek soil.

It was in the pre-dawn of yesterday that Greek police and military made the swift raids which netted close to 3,000 people who were charged with plotting rebellion against the state. Many important Communists reportedly had fled to the mountains or were in hiding. Officials stated that all those arrested would have hearings and that those implicated probably would be exiled on the numerous islands off the Greek coast in the Aegean. The zero hour for the coup is said to have been one a. m. today.

New Gromyko Drama

One wonders whether Gromyko would have delivered exactly the same speech if he had known that the Greek police were to swing into action against the Reds a few hours later. Anyway, the Soviet delegate's attack on America and Britain and his defense of Communism in the Balkans provided another Gromyko drama for the Security Council at Lake Success.

The occasion was a debate on the majority report of the Balkan investigating commission of the Security Council. This report was based on study of the situation on the spot. It placed responsibility for fomenting disorders in Greece upon the neighboring states of Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria—all Communized and satellites of Moscow.

Gromyko said the Greek government was the guilty party, and he demanded that the Council reverse the findings of the commission and rule that Greece was guilty of causing disturbances in Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria. He declared that Russia couldn't accept an American proposal for the establishment of a semi-permanent U.N. watch along the borders in question.

Shifts Greek Support

Mr. Gromyko didn't say how many foreign military he claimed to be on Greek soil. However, a Greek source said there were only about 6,000, mostly British. The rest were American training troops.

But that wasn't all that the Soviet representative had to say. He also called for United Nations supervision of all economic aid to Greece. This was calculated to put the American program of direct support under international control.

The effect of Gromyko's fiery proposals of course must be to delay the Security Council in making a decision regarding the investigating commission's report. Any delay of this sort obviously would be of advantage to the Red elements which have been aiming at the establishment of a Soviet in Greece. It would permit continuance of such tactics as have been employed by Red elements along the frontiers of Greece's northern neighbors.

The discovery of the plot in Athens presumably has put a dent in the Communist program, but it isn't

VACATIONS FOR RUBINOFF HAS FAMILY FIGHT

R. 2, will have as her guest, Roger Simon, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Simon, 160 East 28th street.

Julius Brito, who is nine and a half years old, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Brito of 245 East 13th street, will learn about farm life at the home of Mrs. Anne C. Shields, Biglerville R. 2.

Hilda Gravino, seven, of 250 East 34th street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gravino, will stay with Mrs. Roy Hiner, South Washington street.

Brother-Sister Groups

Mrs. Howard Fellenbaum, Gettysburg R. 5, will have two guests. They are brothers, Angelo and Joseph Licato, aged eight and five, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Licato, live at 196 Mott street.

Mrs. Harry Gilbert, Gettysburg R. 3, also has two children, Viola and Camille Del Rio, whose ages are eight and nine respectively, and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Del Rio, live at 325 East 12th street.

Robert Whalen, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whalen, 525 Second avenue, and Carlos Gare, Jr., 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Gare, 518 Third avenue, are staying at the home of Mrs. Louise Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 5.

Judith Ann Simon, six, a sister of Roger, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Simon, live at 160 East 28th street, and Barbara Spence, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spence, 832 Classon street, are with Mrs. J. R. Riden, Littlestown.

Two of the children who will arrive next Tuesday will go to the home of Mrs. John Weber, Gettysburg R. 2, and a third will spend her two weeks with Mrs. Charles W. Taylor, Gettysburg R. 2.

Happy smiles wreathed the faces of the 12 children as they started from the hotel toward the automobiles which took them to their new homes. Baths, to remove the travel likely to halt the Red drive. Because of Greece's strategic politico-military position she has been marked down for Communization—and the only thing which can block it is outside intervention. Greece isn't yet capable of defending herself.

RUBINOFF HAS FAMILY FIGHT

Pittsburgh, July 10 (AP)—David Rubinoff, maestro of the singing violin, was reported flying to Pittsburgh today in an effort to restore the harmony in his family life, disturbed by his aged mother's suit to stop the sale of the home he gave her when he became famous.

Semi-blind Mrs. Libbie Rubinoff, 85, yesterday asked Allegheny county Common Pleas Court to cancel a deed which she signed June 6, conveying the home to her son. She charged she couldn't see what she was signing. She also sought an injunction restraining the famed violinist from selling the property or advertising it for sale.

Denies "Trick" In Encino, Calif., Rubinoff attributed the dispute to a "rather nasty family quarrel" and denied any "tricks" in the transfer of the deed. He said he would fly to Pittsburgh in an effort to straighten out the matter.

Rubinoff said the prospective sale was explained carefully to his mother and that he would take her to California to live with him. Other members of the family of the Pittsburgh-born maestro supported his contention.

A GOOD BUY

Columbia, Mo., July 10 (AP)—A young man applied to Hamilton Holt, supervisor of the Veterans Administration office, for $10,000 in GI insurance and explained it was a new policy, not reinstatement he was asking.

"Been in the army bud?" Holt inquired.

"Yup, three years."

"Mind telling me how you avoided army high pressure drives during that period?" Holt continued.

"That was easy; I was the insurance officer," came the reply.

stains, and a good country supper, mixed with large doses of fresh country air, were the first items in the two-week program. Today they really begin their vacations.

SERGEANT FOX

Army Ground Forces headquarters at Washington and served as a liaison officer for nine months. After being separated from the service as an officer he enlisted in the regular army as a master sergeant.

Prior to coming here he was assigned to recruiting duty in New York city.

Fox wears the ETO ribbon with three bronze (battle) stars, the bronze arrowhead for an amphibious invasion, the Purple Heart, American Theater service medal, World War II Victory medal, Good Conduct medal and the American Defense service ribbon.

Twenty-six years old, he is seeking a home here for his wife and daughter.

Air Unit In September The air unit to be established here will be in operation in September. Colonel McKenney also announced. The enlarged ROTC will bring the enrollment to about 150. Two air officers and two air enlisted men and possibly a third officer are to be assigned to the air ROTC here.

Colonel McKenney said today that shipments of equipment for the new unit which will train administrative and transportation officers for the Air Force, is expected to arrive in the early future. Up to $25,000 worth of equipment has been authorized for the present air unit.

Present plans call for the local ROTC to be set up on a battalion basis due to the unexpected enlarged enrollment. Previously the local unit was established on a company basis.

Boat Has New Mast, Cruise Is Resumed Selinsgrove, Pa., July 10 (AP)—With a new mast on their sail boat, three Clearfield youths continued their cruise down the Susquehanna river today to Harrisburg.

The three boys, William Winkler, 17, Joe Marrara, 16, and Anthony Nasca, 18, all Sea Scouts, were held up at Sunbury until late yesterday while they replaced the mast that snapped off while sailing between Milton and Sunbury.

The boys originally started from Clearfield late in June but tempor-

CONGRESS MAY BE RECALLED ON EUROPEAN HELP

Washington, July 10 (AP)—President Truman said today a special session of Congress will be called this fall if one is necessary to carry out the Marshall plan for European recovery. But, the President added, he sees no present need for such a session.

Mr. Truman told a news conference it will be impossible to say definitely whether it will be necessary to call the lawmakers back to Washington before next January until the results of the Paris conference are assayed.

The Paris conference opens Saturday at the call of Britain and France, with attendance by at least 15 of the 22 nations invited already assured. The session will consider Secretary of State Marshall's proposal that Europe work out a self-help program of rehabilitation and then advise the United States what additional help may be needed.

Homes For Homeless Mr. Truman said the Marshall plan may come up in his scheduled meeting Monday with House and Senate leaders, although he said the meeting was not called for that purpose.

Primary purpose of Monday's White House session, the President said, is to discuss the problem of displaced persons. He has asked Congress for special legislation to admit a "substantial number" from occupied zones where nearly a million of the European wanderers have refused to return home.

The President was asked for comment on the refusal of most of the eastern European countries except Czechoslovakia to attend the Paris conference.

He said he had no comment.

Union Disturber Is Sent To Jail

Pittsburgh, July 10 (AP)—William McGregor, 48, member of local 249, AFL Teamsters union, was sent to the county jail for six to 20 months today, charged with aggravated assault and battery in a union election brawl in front of Syria

SEX APPEAL
Seattle, Wash., July 10 (AP)—Failing in attempts to recapture a monkey which escaped from his pet store and took up residence under a dock, John Gootch took another monkey down to the waterfront to lure the fugitive from his lair.
Now there are two monkeys living under the dock.

SAYS TRUMAN WILL VETO TAX SLASH MEASURE

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Senator Barkley announced after a conference at the White House today that President Truman will veto the new Republican bill to cut income taxes $4,000,000,000 annually starting January 1.

Barkley told reporters, after leaving Mr. Truman, that the Chief Executive "is still opposed" to the tax reduction bill with its effective date made six months later than in a bill he recently rejected.

Barkley (Ky.), Senate Democratic leader, was asked what his attitude will be on the measure when it comes up in the Senate.

"I'm opposed to it," he said, adding he would fight it on the floor.

Hopes To Sustain Veto
Then he said Mr. Truman is opposed to it and will "veto it."

Asked if a second veto could be sustained in the Senate, Barkley said "I hope so."

The measure was approved, 10-3, by the Senate Finance committee yesterday with Barkley, and Senators Lucas (D-Ill.) and Connally (D-Tex.) opposing it.

Barkley spent half an hour with Mr. Truman before making his announcement.

The bill comes up on the Senate floor for consideration today.

Republican backers of the bill, which would take effect next January 1, were hopeful of driving it through by Saturday. If the bill can be delivered to the White House by Monday, the President could take his full 10 days to sign or veto it without interfering with Congress' plan to adjourn July 26.

In the event Mr. Truman vetoes this bill, as he did the original tax cut designed to take effect July 1, there is as yet no assurance the Senate will override.

The House upheld the first veto by a vote that fell two short of the required two-thirds, but the 302 to 112 house tally Tuesday appeared to be a virtual guarantee that a veto cannot be made to stick there again.

Newsboy Is Killed In Subway Accident

New York, July 10 (AP)—At least 15 passengers in a subway coach saw Anthony Manno, 11-year-old newsboy, carried to his death yesterday while clinging to the side of the coach.

Police said that any one of them could have prevented the accident by pulling the emergency stop cord, but all sat transfixed.

The boy, after clinging to the coach for seven blocks on an elevated section of the line, was crushed between the coach and a station structure when the train came into the station. He had grabbed at the center post of the coach doorway just as the doors slid shut.

When the rubber-edged doors closed around his hand, the boy had managed to keep a foothold on the two-inch sill on the outside of the doorway until he was smashed against the shed.

Seek Husband Of Murdered Woman

San Luis Obispo, Calif., July 10 (AP)—Police were searching today for Morley V. King, San Luis Obispo restaurant operator whose wife was found slain in a trunk here yesterday.

Sheriff Murray C. Hathway said the body had been positively identified as that of Mrs. Helen King, formerly of Pacoima, a Los Angeles suburb. Identification was made through dental bridgework and through personal effects found with the corpse.

King, sought for questioning, has been missing since 3 a.m. Tuesday.

The House upheld the first veto by a vote that fell two short of the required two-thirds, but the 302 to 112 house tally Tuesday appeared to be a virtual guarantee that a veto cannot be made to stick there again.

GETTYSBURG FEATURED IN AP ARTICLE

The Associated Press is syndicating a series of articles to all its members on vacation mecca in Pennsylvania. Today's article, second in the series, deals with Gettysburg. It follows:

(By The Associated Press)
The Gettysburg Battlefield, now a National Park, and the National Cemetery attract thousands of tourists each year from every state in the Union and many foreign lands.

Gettysburg is on the Lincoln highway in Central Pennsylvania, at the intersection of the main Baltimore-Harrisburg road.

There on July 1, 2 and 3, 1863 was fought the crucial battle of the war between the states. The Union forces lost 23,049 men and the Confederates a total of 28,063.

The National Park consists of 2,400 acres through which the Federal government has built 30 miles of paved roads. The field over which the battle was fought covers about 15,000 acres, including the borough of Gettysburg. There are 2,388 monuments, tablets and markers along the main battle lines and 417 cannon are located on the field in their approximate positions during the battle.

Things to see:
The Peace Memorial, dedicated in 1938 during the reunion of the Blue and Gray on the 75th anniversary of the battle.

Little Round Top, Devil's Den, the Wheat Field and Peach Orchard located in the area of heaviest assault on the second day.

Cemetery Hill, scene of Early's attack and resultant hand-to-hand fighting.

The Angle and High Water Mark, located at the center of the Union line, objective of Pickett's charge.

The National cemetery, in which are buried 3,604 Union soldiers, 97 of whom are listed as unidentified. Here also Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg address.

Panning is a quick and easy, top-of-stove way to cook many tender young vegetables.

St. Mary's Seminary; Sister Felicita, a member of the staff of St. Joseph's college; Mrs. Thomas Lyons, president of the Ladies of Charity parish units of Washington; Miss Philamon McCoy, executive secretary of Catholic Charities and the Ladies of Charity of Prince Georges county; Miss Maybelle McGravey, vice president of the Ladies of Charity of Baltimore, and Miss Elizabeth Schoenlein, treasurer of the Ladies' of Charity and chairman of arrangements.

History Reviewed
Mrs. Horgan, in reviewing the history of the Ladies of Charity of Baltimore, recalled the interest of His Excellency, Archbishop Curley, 25 years ago when he met the Ladies of Charity. His earnest wish was always that this organization be established in every parish in the Archdioceses of Baltimore and Washington. Today there are 63 parish units and more than 3,500 members. The Archbishop was honorary president of the Ladies of Charity.

Father Hugh J. Phillips was the guest speaker. Following the meeting, Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given by Father

AT LEAST 17 NATIONS WILL JOIN AID MOVE

Paris, July 10 (AP)—Attendance at at least 17 nations at a Soviet-boycotted European economic conference was assured today—the last day for replies to invitations issued by Britain and France. The conference will start here Saturday.

Two nations friendly to Russia—Finland and Albania—still were to be heard from. Hungary declined today.

Four others in the same class—Poland, Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria—had turned down their invitations.

They were the only ones to do so among the 22 nations invited by the two sponsoring governments. Their stand followed the lead of Russia, whose Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov opposed the conference in three-power talks ended in Paris a week ago yesterday.

Survey Needs
Czechoslovakia, which has close political and economic ties with the Soviet Union, and Austria, where some Russian troops still are stationed, have decided to take part in the conference.

In the invitations, distributed last Thursday, Britain and France proposed that participants in the conference set up committees to survey Europe's resources and needs in a move to get United States aid in continental reconstruction.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall offered such aid, provided Europe took the initiative in recovery planning, in a Harvard university speech June 5.

Countries which have signified their intention of taking part, in addition to Czechoslovakia and Austria, are Britain, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Franco Spain was not invited.

2 Reject Bid
Poland and Yugoslavia rejected conference bids last night. The Polish action was announced after a four-hour cabinet meeting in Warsaw. Yugoslavia's negative reply followed several days of government discussions.

In her official rejection, Yugoslavia complained that she had not been consulted before the invitations were sent. She added that she already had made long-term agreements with numerous countries and done much toward reconstruction with her own means and that "therefore we cannot accept a program which would hamper the revival" of economic life.

Mrs. Bowers Is Renamed President

The June meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. R. M. Zacharias Wednesday evening June 25th. The following committees were appointed by Mrs. Philip Bower, president, to serve for the year:

Historian, Mrs. R. M. Zacharias, chairman; Mrs. Charles Landers, Mrs. Ruffe, Mrs. William Rowe, Miss Anna Gillelan; magazine, Mrs. Robert Gillelan, chairman; Miss Ruth Shuff and Mrs. Ralph Ohler; life membership and memorial, Mrs. William Rowe, chairman; Mrs. Bruce Patterson, and Mrs. E. R. Shriver; mission study, Mrs. Mervin Tate and Mrs. George Eyster; membership, Mrs. Irvin Brown, chairman; Mrs. Harry McDowell, Mrs. Mahlon Stonestifer and Mrs. Carroll Brock.

The officers who served for one year were reappointed as follows: Mrs. Philip Bower, president; Mrs. A. McChap, secretary; Mrs. R. M. Zacharias, statistical secretary; Mrs. Roy Bollinger, treasurer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roy Bollinger on Wednesday evening, July 30th.

Miss Adelsberger Weds H. Hofstetter

A quiet wedding was performed Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church Rectory when Miss Lucille Adelsberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Adelsberger, became the bride of H. Paul Hofstetter, of Greenbelt, Md. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Francis Stauble, pastor.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Topper. The bride was attired in a light blue crepe street length dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Topper wore a pink linen street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of the Emmitsburg high school and of the Frederick Memorial hospital, Frederick, Md., and at present is employed at the Children's Hospital at Washington, D. C. The groom is still in the Navy and is stationed at Anacostia, near Washington.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the New England States and upon their return will reside in their newly furnished apartment in Washington, D. C.

PICNIC AUGUST 2
The annual picnic of St. Joseph's Catholic church will be held in the church grove on August 2. Suppers will be served from 4 until 8.

Emmitsburg Woman Finds Germans Still Dangerous

The Germans—given an opportunity—will again seek to conquer the world.

That at least is the conclusion of Mrs. Mary Gammache, of Emmitsburg, who returned two weeks ago from Germany after spending six months there with her husband, former Major Frank Gammache, who is now a civilian engineer with the army at Garmish, Germany.

Mrs. Gammache and her two sons, Thomas, 15, and Anthony, 6, joined Mr. Gammache in Germany last winter. They returned to permit the youngsters to continue their schooling at Emmitsburg. Mr. Gammache is scheduled to return home in September.

Both of the youngsters said today that they were glad to return to America and did not like to live in Germany. As Thomas expressed it: "The German youngsters are too polite. I wanted to get back to where someone would say 'Hiya Joe, watcha know.'"

Thomas added that: "When I saw the Statue of Liberty it seemed to be waving at me."

America "A Great Country"
Mrs. Gammache added that: "My parents were always saying what a great nation America is and I had become slightly tired of the story—" but now I'm ready to start making speeches about how great America is at any time. I never voted before—but believe me I'm going to be a model citizen now. Going to Germany proved what a great country America is."

"Everything in Germany," the Emmitsburg woman pointed out "is different and depressing. Thomas was in high school and if we were to send him to high school in Germany he would have had to travel 75 miles to Munich. I asked a number of other American children in the neighborhood what they were being taught in Munich's high school, and then I decided to bring my youngsters back to America for their education."

The great difference between the American and the German—or any European—in Mrs. Gammache's experience is that the Americans know how to laugh while the German, or European, has never learned.

"They seem so depressed, and they never laugh, like Americans do. For example, when we were in the railroad station at Munich our group of American wives and children passed a group of GI's who were on their way home from Germany. The GI's laughed and sang out to us: 'You'll be sorry.' That cheered us up, although we had to confess later that the soldiers were right. But the difference there is that the Americans made a joke of their troubles and worries. The German just can't seem to take anything any way but seriously."

Mrs. Gammache admits she should be able to understand the German psychology — after all she is a descendant of Pennsylvania Dutchmen from Lancaster.

Not Sorry For Enemy

"At first," she says, "I felt sorry for the German people who walked after you in the streets, hoping to pick up a cigarette butt when you threw it away, and for the children who hung around the PX's waiting to get a hand-out from the soldiers when they left the establishment. But later I did not feel sorry for them, I felt only contempt. For they were not grateful for what they got; they were not grateful for the way in which the Americans treated them; they, particularly the young men, in their attitude, seemed to think themselves far above everyone else. Yet at the same time they publicly begged the American forces to remain because they fear that the Russians will march in the day after the Americans march out."

The town in which she lived was a former recreational area for the Germans and had many golf courses, ski slides and the like. Anthony and Thomas learned to ski as they learned the German language — easily. The town lies in the Alps area and is not far from the famous Alpine city where the passion play was held yearly until the war interrupted. On a trip to that city she met the family of the man who played Judas in the passion plays.

FIRE COMPANY WILL BUY HOSE

The Emmitsburg fire company will purchase about 500 feet of 2½ inch hose and 250 feet of 1½ inch hose, the members decided Tuesday evening at a meeting at the engine house.

The new hose will be used while other hose is being dried after a fire, Chief Herbert W. Roger said today. At present the new fire engine has about 1,400 feet of 2½ inch hose and 400 feet of 1½ inch hose as regular equipment. The old fire engine has about 1,000 feet of 2½ inch hose and 300 feet of 1½ inch hose as its regular equipment.

The company is also seeking to purchase a new siren to replace the bell currently used by the company to sound alarms.

Five delegates were named to attend the Frederick county convention to be held July 17 and 18 at Middletown. Those serving as delegates from the Emmitsburg company will be John Hollinger, Chief Roger, R. S. Sperry, Guy Baker and Lloyd Fite. In addition, one engine will be taken to Middletown for the parade and as many firemen as possible will travel from Emmitsburg to the parade on the engine.

65-Year Old Woman Killed In Crash

Conneautville, Pa., July 10 (AP)—A 65-year-old woman was killed and three other persons hurt in an automobile crash on route 18 near here. The victim was Mrs. Una D. Gillies, 65, of Greenville.

Dr. H. H. Walker, deputy coroner of Crawford county, said the crash occurred yesterday when a car driven by Charles Zacher, 26, of Pittsburgh, a student at Thiel college, went out of control and hit a tree.

In Greenville hospital were Zacher, with fractures of both legs; Mrs. R. M. Thompson, 68, of Greenville, and other injuries; and the latter's grandson, Michael Hinkson, 3, possible concussion and a broken leg. All were reported in fair condition.

FACTS ABOUT TERMITES

Termites are causing such extensive damages to buildings in this country that information about their destructive habits and how they can be controlled must be circulated frequently. This need arises mainly from the fact that most persons believe that termites are "winged" ants and seek to combat them by the same measures usually employed against ants. Therefore, we may here repeat statements which have previously appeared in this column, but we hope to add other suggestions to further control efforts.

Termites are not ants. The winged forms seen in late spring or early autumn are not winged ants and are in no manner related to ants. The flying form is not the particular form that is responsible for building timbers being destroyed. All these factors are easily clarified by reviewing the life cycle of a wood-eating termite. It is this; The winged male and female mate and the female lays her eggs in a soil colony nest, greatly similar to the nest of ordinary ants. The eggs hatch into tiny eyeless grubs or larvae which must find dry timbers into which to burrow. In fact, the grub spends its entire life burrowing up through timber from near its soil home. Again, it must be emphasized that the winged form does not eat timber and the white grub which is solely responsible for damages to house timbers is never seen.

One other important fact about the termite's habits is worth repeating — The wood-eating grub must maintain constant contact with the ground while it is feeding in the wood. This contact is originally established and later maintained by the termite building an earthen tube from the ground up to the lowest timbers in the building. Sometimes these tubes extend for several feet up the surface of a foundation or basement wall or up the base of a chimney in order to reach the timbers. But termites cannot possibly live without this tube connection with the soil. Here is a vital key to termite control.

The importance of this tube is easily seen in constructing new houses. Experienced builders in termite-infested regions now place a galvanized or copper sheet along the top of the inner foundation, bending a 2- or 3-inch flange downward at a 35 to 45 degree angle. This metal flange prevents the termite constructing its life-giving earthen tube up to reach the foundation or studing or floor timbers.

Where buildings are already infested the destruction of these tubes is an effective way to cure the termite trouble. Of course, such thorough destruction will not prevent recurrence of the problem, but it serves as an effective stop-gap until more permanent solutions are employed.

How may one identify a termite and distinguish it from an ant? The answer is simple — Look at the waistline. An ant's waist-line is amazingly slender; the termite's is heavy. Wings of the termite are equal in length, both pairs. The two pairs of wings of a winged ant are of unequal length.

Householders whose property is menaced by termites are urged to write the editor for simple control measures and at the same time to ask their member in Congress for a free copy of Farmers' Bulletin 1911 — Subterranean Termites and Their Control. Or this publication may be obtained without charge on request to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of Information, Washington 25, D. C.

Growing Carrots For Winter

Carrots rightly belong near the top of the vegetable list when judged by food values. They are easy to grow and are at home in the late garden, particularly when dangers of unseasonably early frosts are likely. They may be stored over winter in a cool, moist basement or cellar or buried safely in an outdoor pit or mound. All these factors add up to the fact that every gardener should plant a liberal part of the late garden to carrots, certainly a sufficient planting to insure a supply all winter.

From 65 to 85 days are required for carrots to reach harvest or edible size from date of planting. The Danvers Half-Long and Chantenay varieties, two favorites for winter storage, require 70 to 75 days for maturing from planting. This means carrots for the final crop should be planted within the next two or three weeks, although a later planting or two may be risked, especially for harvest at the tender "baby" carrot size for immediate consumption.

Carrots demand a deeply mellow loam where no obstructions are encountered by the tapering roots. Soils from which early potatoes or other root crop has been removed usually are in suitable condition for carrots without more than surface preparation to render the seed bed friable. Too, if the early vegetable was liberally fertilized and the soil is naturally fertile, no additional fertilizer will be necessary.

Seed may be sown rather thinly, although it should be heavy enough to insure an even stand. Plants later should be thinned to stand 2 to 3 inches apart in the row. As already suggested, the seed bed should be worked fine to insure uniform germination. Cover seed no more than a half inch deep and firm the surface with the back of a hoe or board. If the soil is dry after planting, keep the surface moistened to hasten germination.

Although carrots are not injured by light frosts, the roots are susceptible to damage by freezing. Therefore, the late crop should be harvested and stored before freezing temperatures arrive. The tops should be cut off with shears about an inch from the root for cellar or burial storage, as the half ripened tops merely take up space.

Carrots keep well when buried in a well drained garden pit. For this method of storage a shallow excavation, seldom more than 6 inches deep, is dug and lined liberally with dry straw, leaves or hay. On this lining the carrots are piled in a conical heap and covered with a coating of the same dry vegetable used to line the pit. Over this a thin coating of soil is placed to hold the covering intact. More soil is added later before freezing weather comes.

A small wooden flue (4 by 4 inches) made of four light boards and bored full of holes from bottom to top may be placed in the center of the heap and the carrots piled around the flue. The upper end should extend through the apex of the mound to provide a means of surplus moisture to escape. The opening should be covered with screen to bar rodents and sheltered by boards to shut out rain and snow. A small supply of carrots for emergency consumption should be stored in the cellar or basement.

Canning Tomatoes—12 Steps

Due to their high acid content, tomatoes need not be canned in a pressure cooker; the boiling-water bath process, or open-kettle method as it is sometimes called, is satisfactory. For the benefit of more experienced canners as well as beginners, 12 excellent rules for this important task are here reviewed:

1. Wash jars, lids and rubber rings in hot soapy water and then rinse them thoroughly. Cover them with boiling water and allow them to stand until needed. It is wise to can tomatoes in lots of but a few jars rather than in large batches requiring many jars. Therefore, jars, lids and rubber bands should be washed and sterilized in relatively small numbers. Bring the water to a boil again before using jars and equipment.

2. Obtain firm but thoroughly ripe tomatoes which have spent a minimum of time since their removal from the vines. Avoid bruised tomatoes. Wash them carefully in warm water and then scald them one-half to one minute in boiling water. Plunge into cold water before slipping off the skins, removing the cores and quarterings.

3. Pack tomatoes at once into hot freshly sterilized quart glass jars, pressing them down with a spoon to extract enough juice for covering the surface. It is advisable to fill the jars to within a half inch of the top and cover with the extra juice.

4. Add a teaspoonful of salt to each jar.

5. Wipe the edges of the jar rims dry and adjust the ring and lid quickly and carefully on each jar.

6. The vessel for canning may be any large container, such as a kettle or special canner. It must be 3 to 4 inches deeper than height of the jars and should have a close-fitting lid and a false bottom or rack to keep jars one inch from bottom.

7. Place filled jars in canning vessel and add hot but not boiling water until the jars are covered at least an inch or two. The container and water should be ready by the time jars are filled and lids fitted on them.

8. Cover the container and begin to compute processing time when water is boiling quite vigorously.

9. At altitudes from sea level to 1,000 feet, process for 50 minutes. Add 5 minutes for every additional 500 feet.

10. When water has boiled for the required time, remove the jars and try the lids to see if they require any more tightening.

11. Cool for 24 hours in a dark room where there are no drafts. It is advisable to place jars on thickly folded paper on a table or shelf for this cooling-off period.

12. Wipe the jars, and if desired, label them before storing in a cool, dark place until needed.

A few important "Don'ts"—Do not grasp jars by the tops or lids when removing them from the processing bath.

Don't crowd jars in the bath; allow space between them so water can circulate freely.

Don't scald tomatoes too long, else skins will not come off easily.

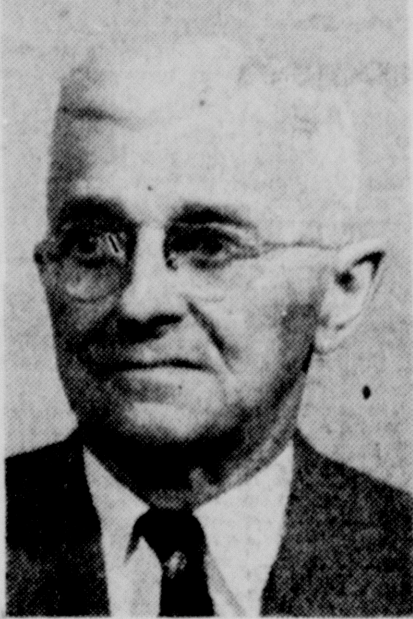

Don't screw lid too tight before processing. It is better to loosen it a little after screwing it to farthest point and then tightening well after the bath.

Don't fail to can a maximum supply of tomatoes. They are excellent sources of vitamin C and other vitamins and minerals.

SELECT YOUR PHYSICIAN WITH CARE AND CONFIDENCE

★ The study of medicine is a selective process in itself. Seven years of intensive study in college, plus one year of practice in a hospital, are the minimum requirements. It is wise to trust your precious health only to a conscientious physician of recognized standing. Avoid the quack, the charlatan, the "cure all" type of doctor. Almost invariably they do more harm than good. Select your physician as you should your pharmacist—with care and confidence.

When your physician writes a prescription, bring it to us to be filled. We are specialists at this work.

Twin Sister Drowns

Pittsburgh, July 10 (P)—One of the 5-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandenstein returned alone to her home at the Denny campgrounds at Springdale.

Parents and friends, searching for the other girl, Marlene, found her an hour later, drowned in the near-by Allegheny river. She apparently had wandered too near the bank and fallen in.

Dear Susan Brown

Chapter 13
John nodded solemnly. It did not occur to him that there might be more to Susan's eagerness than a normal desire to excel in some form of sports. "Sure. You could have licked the tar out of him. I've seen him play before, but I've never seen him in worse form. Only don't try going swimming by yourself any more, baby."

"You must have been lying here in the hot sun for hours. That was a dumb thing to do, I must say. Besides, Steve has been looking all over for you. He wanted you to take more pictures. He was so mad he was fit to be tied when they left. When they left?" John repeated, grinning in spite of the pain. "Don't tell me the daisy-pickers got mad and went home?"

"Of course they haven't gone home. Can't you ever be serious? They've gone horseback riding. Steve wanted you to photograph them on the bridge path. He wanted to send out a newspaper release, with pictures."

The cameraman snickered. "You mean to say all of them went?" Susan nodded. "Certainly all of them went. That is," she qualified, "all except Mrs. Mansfield. She stayed in her room to do some writing; says she had a story she wants Steve to look over before she leaves. She's sure—"

John Bates laughed aloud. "So she's starting her writing career in a hurry, eh? While there's a publisher handy. Maybe he'll get so involved he'll have to publish it—I hope, I hope."

"She's sure it's a natural. Says it's her life story, and that ought to make it perfect," Susan went on, ignoring the interruption. "But all the rest of them went horseback riding. Mrs. Cranston didn't really want to go of course. She wanted to stay and bake a couple of pies; said she felt more at home in the kitchen, poor thing. But she went. Even Bella went."

John's jaw dropped in genuine surprise. "Good grief! Don't tell me that female stopped sitting long enough to go horseback riding?"

Susan could not help laughing at that. "Oh, she went all right. After all, horseback riding is the one thing she can do and still sit. Furthermore, she's a very good rider."

I watched them start off, and you'd think she'd been born in the saddle. "You don't say so?"

"I do say so," Susan's face sobered. "They're all good riders except me. I—I've never been on a horse in my life. That's why I couldn't go. Oh, I'm such a dud. John, I can't do anything other girls do. Not that I want to go with those people, of course, but it just burns me up."

John looked at her curiously, saw that she was genuinely distressed. "Come, come, Susie. I wouldn't say that. You've got plenty on the ball. Sure. You're not much of a sports-woman. But what the heck? City girls—working girls, I mean—don't have much chance to go in for horseback riding and outdoor sports. Even so, you've got a hell of a lot that other girls haven't got." He hesitated briefly, then added, "As far as I'm concerned, you're just about perfect."

"Thanks, John. But I know you're just being kind."

She started to get up to go, but he held out a detaining hand and said in a more serious voice:

"Don't go, Susie. I'm not through yet. What I'm trying to say is—well, I consider you tops in every direction. Maybe I'm a little prejudiced, of course. The truth is, I've been nuts about you ever since the first day I set eyes on you. I said to myself then and there, 'There's a gal that shouldn't be slaving her life away over a red-hot typewriter. She'd make some man a mighty fine wife.'"

"Why, that's awfully sweet of you, John," said Susan, smiling her gratitude. "I had no idea you—er—liked me that much. You're always teasing me, and we're always at each other's throats about something—well, I didn't think you liked me at all." She smiled again, then added:

"And as for my slaving my life away over a typewriter—why, that's ridiculous. I adore writing columns to help people."

John's sense of humor got the better of him and he laughed. "You mean to say you think you've helped these horseback-riding daisy-pickers, do you?" He nodded his head in the general direction of the bridge path. "Holy cow!"

"No I don't. That's ridiculous. But I do believe," she added by way of defense, "they're exceptions. If Stephen Gellis had only allowed me to do the picking instead of following circulation figures I believe I could have done a better job. I certainly wouldn't have picked this group."

John wasn't so sure. "Maybe so," he said, and was quick to advance the theory that people who wrote to love columns for advice rarely, if ever, took it. "Anyway, you didn't have a chance, sugar—so that's that. All you got out of the thing was the dirty work. Now you've got these infernal people on your hands. It's a damn shame. If it weren't for the Peytons, the whole setup would be a kick in the pants for the magazine."

"I don't think so much of the Peytons either," Susan confessed, voicing a thought that had been in the back of her mind all morning.

"And why not? They're young, they're good-looking, and they use Lifebuoy. Moreover, they put up a pretty good show of being in love. What's wrong with the Peytons, aside from being a little hipped on the subject of romance?"

"They just don't belong here. They came under false pretenses," Susan shrugged her contempt for such perfidy. "They didn't have any problem at all. They've only been married two weeks, and all they wanted was a free vacation."

"You don't say?"

"Yes, Anne Peyton practically admitted it this morning. It slipped out. She told an entirely different story from the one she told when they arrived. Why, she's a terrible liar—that girl. Of course, you can't help having respect for a good, honest liar. What that girl needs is a better memory. Then she might get away with her silly little falsehoods."

DOG HAS PUPS IN FIRE ENGINE

Chicago, July 10 (AP)—"Bum," a young brown and black fox terrier, wandered into a west side fire station a year ago and promptly was named mascot of engine company 103.

Bum never missed a fire, always riding on the fire engine. But because of the dog's approaching motherhood, Lt. Jerry McElligott had ordered her placed on a leash.

Yesterday when an alarm came in Bum broke the leash and leaped aboard the fire engine. She stayed on the engine and while firemen extinguished a small fire with hand pumps her first pup was born.

The engine sped back to the station and firemen Tim Maty and Frank Wixted moved Bum and the pup into the dog's bed. Five more pups were born.

The first was named "Smoky," and will fill a standing request from Inhalator Squad No. 8 for a mascot. The others already have been requested by residents near the firehouse Bum will stay at engine house 103.

WHITE HOUSE KEEPS EYE ON PRICE SPIRAL

Washington, July 10 (AP)—The White House watched closely today for signs of any new wage-price spiral growing out of the record pay boost won by John L. Lewis for his 400,000 soft coal miners.

Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of President Truman's three-man council of economic advisers, told a reporter the council is studying the possible impact of the coal settlement on the nation's economy.

He added the council will wrap up its findings in a mid-year report to be submitted to the president later this week.

The administration meanwhile, however, showed no signs of reopening the mine wage controversy by proceeding against the operators under the Taft-Hartley Labor act as Representative Hartley (R-N.J.) declared it could do.

Cites Violation
The co-author of the union curb measure insisted in a house speech yesterday that the contract provisions under which the mine owners agree not only to check off union dues but initiation fees and assessments as well is a "clear violation of the act."

He contended that only union dues may be withheld from workers' paychecks and that in going beyond that field the operators "agreed to pay money for an illegal reason."

Lashing out, too, at the provision that the miners need work only when "able and willing" to do so, Hartley said the law meant for labor unions "to become responsible organizations."

"In my opinion," the lawmaker declared, "this agreement clearly reflects collusion between the mine operators and the UMW with the intention of violating the law."

Hartley said the operators who signed could be charged under the act and, if convicted, would face a $10,000 fine and one year in prison.

No Official Action
He added that no action could be taken against Lewis, because the law forbids payment of money, except for withheld dues, to "representatives of employees" but says nothing about the employees' representatives accepting it.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) had no comment on Hartley's contention. The Ohio senator had said shortly after the contract agreement was announced that the new law he helped write contemplated employers and employees settling their own disputes.

Hopes For Miracle

And while there was no official administration reaction to Hartley's speech, it appeared highly unlikely that the government would risk a fresh coal strike by trying to break the contract through legal action.

However, concern over the possible economic impact of the 44¢ cent basic hourly wage hike won by Lewis was evident both within the administration and Congress.

SEES RUSSIA AS A "RIVAL"

Washington, July 10 (AP)—A conviction that the United States must deal with Russia for many years "as a rival, not a partner" is expressed in a highly authoritative but anonymously published article which is attracting much diplomatic attention.

It outlines the view that if the Soviet Union can be held in check for the next decade or longer, the result may be either a more co-operative attitude or a breakdown of Russian power.

The article is published in the July issue of Foreign Affairs, a quarterly magazine, under the signature "Mr. X." There is speculation among diplomatic officials that it sets forth the thinking of George Kennan, chief of Secretary of State Marshall's new policy planning staff.

The State Department refused to comment Wed. as to whether Kennan, a top ranking diplomat with years of experience in Moscow and great influence here, actually wrote the article. Whether he did or not, the interest displayed in it by responsible officials leaves no doubt that it is authoritative.

Abandon Search In Nickajack Cave

Shellmound, Tenn., July 10 (AP)—Red Cross water safety experts gave up their search early Wed. for John T. Hurn after grappling in the underground Nickajack lake for several hours.

The state planned to wind up today its part in the eight-day hunt in weird, historic Nickajack cave for the 35-year-old Nashville, Tenn., man, reported missing in the cave since July 1.

Strangled Body Discovered By Maid

New York, July 10 (AP)—The nude body of a tall, blonde woman whose identity was not immediately learned was found Wed. in a west 57th street apartment, police said, with a bed sheet knotted about the throat and a blood-stained towel in the mouth.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was known to her as Bessie K. True. Luggage bearing the initials "B.K.T." was found in the apartment.

Police said the woman also was known as Sheila Mannering to other residents of the apartment house and had used at least one other name.

Homicide investigators said they found a cigar butt in a smoking stand within the apartment.

The maid, Laura Rayfield, who worked on a part time basis, said she entered the apartment at 9 a. m., saw a light in the bathroom, found a radio playing, and then discovered the body, sprawled on the bedroom floor.

There is no evidence that expensive, more tender cuts of meat have a higher nutritive value than the tougher more economical cuts.

On warm days, rise before the thermometer does, and you'll shine as a cook without getting all hot and bothered! Just serve dishes you can fix early in the morning and wait up at mealtime. Here are a few that will help you keep cool, calm... and collect compliments:

BEANS AT THEIR BEST

Add 1 tbsp. prepared mustard to 1 can ANN PAGE BEANS WITH PORK. Sauté 1 medium onion (finely cut) and 1 medium apple (unpeeled and chopped) in 1 tbsp. fat, and mix with beans. Bake in casserole in moderate oven, 375 F., 20 minutes. This recipe makes enough for 4 servings, but ANN PAGE BEANS make you want more... they're so tender and tasty. Better buy a few extra cans next time you're shopping at the A&P.

DANDY FOR "DOG DAYS"

It's never too hot for "hot dogs" at my house. I split them, spread the cut side with mustard, and fill with cubed American cheese. Then I wrap a piece of bacon around each one, fasten with a skewer and broil until the bacon is crisp and the cheese melted. Come roll call, I tuck them into toasted MARVEL FRANK-FUTER ROLLS from the A&P, which are so fresh and delicious my family tucks them away by the dozen.

APPETITE BAIT

Fish is so light and digestible I serve it often in summer, varying the sauce like this: To 1 cup of medium white sauce I add a tbsp. of ANN PAGE PREPARED MUSTARD or 6 to 10 sliced SULTANA OLIVES or a tbsp. of ANN PAGE GARDEN RELISH. I always keep these thrifty "pepper-uppers" from the A&P on hand, so I'm never at a loss for a sauce.

ICY AND SPICY

Ice and spice make tea mighty nice... especially when it's as invigorating as the famous, Flavor-Tested teas sold only at the A&P: OUR OWN, NECTAR and MAYFAIR. Try serving one of these fine blends over spiced tea cubes made this way: Add 3 cups briskly boiling water to 1 1/2 tbsps. tea, 1 tbsp. whole cloves and 3 lemon slices. Steep 3 to 5 minutes; strain; add 1/4 cup orange marmalade. Freeze in ice cube trays, place in 5 glasses and pour freshly made tea over them.

TAKING CARE OF HOMELESS BIG PROBLEM

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Here is ABC on the problem of displaced persons.

President Truman asked Congress for a special law to let some of Europe's displaced persons into this country.

This message was a nudge to Congress which has been talking about such a law but hasn't voted yet.

About 850,000 displaced persons are living in camps in Germany, Italy, and Austria. They have something to eat and a place to stay and that's about all.

The camps are run by the American and British armies in their zones of occupation. About 550,000 are in American camps.

These people, uprooted by the war, were made homeless. For various reasons, such as fear, they don't want to return to their own countries.

Are they Communists? Mr. Truman said no. He said they're opposed to Communism and don't want to return to their homes in Communist-controlled areas.

Quota Limit

This country has a limit, by law, on the number of people who can come here in any one year as immigrants. The limit is based on a quota system.

The total quota in any one year is about 154,000. But the number of immigrants coming here in any one year is below quota total.

The quotas were set up in 1924. The greatest number can come from Britain: 65,721 a year. But Britons are not displaced persons.

The quotas for some countries are far less than for Britain. Greece, for example, has a quota of about 300 and Bulgaria, 100.

But displaced persons coming here—if Congress passes a special law for them—would be in addition to the quota set-up.

Rep. Stratton, Illinois Republican, has introduced a bill to let in a total of 400,000 displaced persons, at the rate of 100,000 a year for four years.

Many Hearings

Stratton offered his bill in April. Months later a House sub-committee started to study it.

It has been holding hearings for weeks, listening to witnesses talk for and against the bill.

The hearings end this week. If the members of the sub-committee think the idea is good, they'll tell the full House so.

Then it's up to the full House to vote. If the House votes for it, then it is up to the Senate to vote.

All this will take time and there isn't much time left. Congress wants to quit for the year before the end of this month.

Although Stratton suggested 400,000 displaced persons be allowed in, Mr. Truman didn't mention any figure.

Mr. Truman has talked to Congress about this before. So his recent message was another nudge.

Need U. S. Sponsors

Stratton and Mr. Truman point out that, if displaced persons were allowed in, they'd have to meet the

Housing Authority To Counties Given

Harrisburg, July 10 (AP)—County commissioners and city councils had authority today to set up temporary housing authorities to aid home-seeking war veterans.

Governor James H. Duff signed the legislation into law Tuesday giving those local governing bodies power to name five-member commissions to buy or lease temporary housing for war veterans.

The temporary groups could use federal, state or other grants to carry on their programs. Their existence will be terminated when the governor proclaims end of the housing shortage.

tests any immigrant under the quota system meets.

Example: They can't be criminals, prostitutes, or badly diseased. If they're over 16, they must be able to read in their own language. And—

A displaced person coming here must be able to support himself or be sponsored by a relative or organization which will see that he does not become a public charge.

ARREST 2,000 IN RED PLOT

Athens, July 10 (AP)—The Greek government announced that more than 2,000 persons were arrested in the Athens area early Wed. in raids aimed at stamping out a Communist plot to stage a revolution and spread civil war throughout the entire country.

Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas said the zero hour for the Communist stroke was to have been staged simultaneously in all parts of Greece, bringing the present mountain guerrilla warfare into urban centers.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 police, Gendarmes and soldiers staged the lightning raids before dawn this morning, Zervas said. He added that many important Communists already had fled and either were hiding in Athens or in the mountains.

Most of those arrested, he said, will be taken to an island near Athens, while the investigating con-

East Berlin

East Berlin — George E. Smith, plumber, who spent several weeks in the University hospital, Baltimore, for treatment of a serious skull injury sustained while working has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knapp, who were married early in April, are now housekeeping in Bellefonte. Mrs. Knapp is the former Miss Sylvia M. Ebersole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Ebersole R. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hull recently announced the birth of a daughter at the Hanover hospital. Mrs. Hull is the former Miss Mary R. Emig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emig.

Miss Elizabeth Delone and her foster children, Ann, Mary Lou, Suzy and Buddy, who resided for more than a year at Hollywood, Fla., continues.

The transport already has begun. Some ringleaders, Zervas added, will remain in Athens to await hearings. Those not implicated in the plot will be released and others probably will be exiled, officials said.

President Signs Appropriation Bill

Washington, July 10 (AP)—President Truman Wed. signed an omnibus $551,175,932 appropriation bill financing the State, Justice and Commerce departments and the Federal Judiciary for the current fiscal year.

The total is $147,445,591 below Mr. Truman's budget estimates. It is shared this way: State department, $232,724,703, including curtailed funds for limited operation of the foreign cultural and information service.

have reopened their R. 1 home to spend the summer.

Mrs. Lyle Creekmore, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Boozer, West Palm Beach, Fla., is under the care of a specialist in Miami.

Eugene W. Sheely, New Oxford, will spend a part of the summer on the Eastern Shore of Maryland where he has accepted a temporary position.

The Clayton A. Jacobs family, Habetstown, attended the funeral last week of Mrs. Jacobs' mother, Mrs. Frank Fissel.

Lebanon Has Two Democratic Chairmen

Lebanon, Pa., July 10 (AP)—There are two Democratic county chairmen in Lebanon county as a result of a dispute over by-laws.

One faction elected county Commissioner Milford B. Maurer to the post and the other chose Ray W. Weigley, former county commissioner, to head the party in the county. The dispute came to a climax Monday night at separate organization meetings when speakers gave conflicting opinions as to the by-laws.
